Richard Hayman Provides Music At Yearly Dance

By RHODA WERNER

Richard Hayman and his Orchestra will provide the music at the University's annual Christmas Ball, to be held tomorrow night at the Ritz Ballroom on Fairfield Ave. Dancing from 9 P. M. to 1 A. M. to the music furnished by the man who made "Ruby" into a top selling record several years ago will highlight the evening.

Additional entertainment will be provided by Alpha Phi Omega, national social service fraternity, which will render several popular Christmas Carols.

A ticket shortage, that had many people wondering how they were going to get into the Ritz tomorrow night was completely settled by the social activities committee, who had several hundred additional passes printed and put on sale in Alumni Hall during the past week.

Ticket Rage High

Co-chairmen Howie Shapiro and Joseph Brennan, of the social activities committee, were quoted as saying that the demand for tickets to the ball had reached a (continued on page 4)

Recital Presented By Music Department

Students of the music department of the University presented their second in a series of musical recitals Sunday afternoon in the Music Hall.

The 48 voices of the University chorus were featured in the afternoon program under the direction of Prof. Harold Dart.

The program consisted of "Heroic Episode," Miller, played by Donald Therman on the trumpet. Pianist Edith Hofferma played "Solfeggietto," C. P. E. Bach and "Contra Dance No. 3," Beethoven. Dorothy Salvo, soprano, sang "Villanelle," Acqua-Deis and "Love is Where You Find It," Brown.

Prelude and Fugue in C minor, from "Well Tempered Clavichord," Bach, was played by Helen Hirschberg on the piano. Leonard Gendal rendered Rondo from "Horn Concerto No. 4," Mozart on the French Horn.

The University chorus sang "Glory to God," Bach, "The Christmas Candle," Bitgood, "I Wonder as I Wander," Niles. (Edith Hofferma, soloist) and "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones," 17 Century German air.

Accompanists included Leonard Gendal, Edward Leach and Jeanette Di Biase. A reception took place immediately following.

Barnum Scholarship Set Up For Extracurricular Activities

Friends and alumni of the University, last week announced the formation of a steering committee for a P. T. Barnum scholarship for extra-curricular activities. The drive will begin in January.

Designed to raise scholarship funds for students who show exceptional ability in extra-curricular activities, the program has been fully approved by University officials.

Under the program, awards will be made to full-time freshmen students entering the school in September, in four areas, including, athletics, drama, music and student activities. The awards are, however, subject to University scholarship standards and students chosen for the awards must qualify by all school standards.

Carpenter Named

Reigh Carpenter, (UB class of '50) has been named general chairman of the steering committee. It was Carpenter's plan to develop the scholarship program several months ago and was approved after he brought the plan to the attention of the University.

See You Next Year

The SCRIBE staff would like to take this opportunity to wish all members of the faculty, staff, administration, and student body of the University a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

We will resume publication on Jan. 6 after getting over what may prove to be one big headache... of studying and term papers.

Mickey Vail, SCRIBE editor, who campaigned several weeks ago in his by-lined column unVAILing Sports, against the University's scholarship policy, when told of the development of the Barnum scholarship, said, "I am very pleased with the plan, and feel that it will help us immensely." (continued on page 4)

Reigh Carpenter, whose plan for extra-curricular activities scholarships has reached the University.

Cast Of 100 In Musicale At Klein

A cast of over 100 will take part in the University's annual Christmas Pageant tonight at the Klein Memorial Auditorium. The show is scheduled to begin at 8:30 P. M.

As in past years the general public has been invited to the colorful production as well as members of the faculty, staff and alumni of the school. Convocation credit, a must for all students here, will be offered for attendance at the affair.

Directed by Dickason

Under the direction of Albert A. Dickason, head of the office of campus productions and Prof. Harold Dart, the pageant will consist of three parts, with a special ballet highlight for children, entitled "Three Little Bears." Music will be provided by the University of Bridgeport-Community Orchestra under the direction of Edward Ryglewicz.

Part one of the production will include, "Christmas Can't Be Far Away," sung by Dolores Ludka and "Seasons Greetings" by June Bartram, Ginny Tennant, Joseph Bacevycius and Ernest Svab. The "Three Little Bears" ballet will include: Barbara Swarney, "Little Girl"; Alex Zavadsky, "Santa Claus"; Geraldine Bennett, "Papa Bear"; Sarah Meeks, "Mama Bear"; Ann Yerontakis, "Baby Bear"; Yolanda Delmore, "Goldie Locks"; singers, June Bartram, and Ernest Svab. Also featured in the first act will be season's greetings from president James H. Halsey.

Choral Group Featured

The choral group will open the second part with Ryglewicz leading the group in "Hark the Angels Sing" and "Joy to the World." (continued on page 4)

Columbia Exhibit On Display Here

"Man's Right to Knowledge and the Free Use Thereof," is the topic of an exhibit illustrating the theme of Columbia University's bicentennial anniversary on exhibition in the University library Friday, and will continue for another two weeks.

The University is sponsoring the exhibition in cooperation with the Columbia Alumni Regional Committee for the State of Connecticut. Dr. Albert C. Jacobs, President of Trinity College, is the chairman of the Connecticut region.

The exhibit consists of 25 panels covering five aspects of the Columbia Bicentennial theme, as follows: "The Inclusiveness of Man," "The Values of Knowledge," "Man's Right to Free Use of Knowledge," "The Responsibilities of Knowledge" and "Man's Right to Knowledge."

University Tentatively OK's WUOB

By SUE NAPELBAUM

Plans for a radio station, to be located somewhere on the University campus, were tentatively approved by the school administration early this week. Full approval is expected soon, when the remaining details are ironed out.

The brainchild of Herb Burbank and Ed Shumofsky, the station will operate under the call letters of WUOB and will be transmitted on a frequency of 640 kc., covering the entire campus.

President James H. Halsey, who made the official announcement, said, "The entire plan is still tentative pending official approval."

Wechter Advisor

Mr. Harry Wechter has been named as faculty advisor to the group that will function on money allocated to it by the Student Council. Advertising will also play a large part in the upkeep of the station. An anonymous donation of $50 was received by WUOB toward the purchase of equipment.

No programming is definite as yet, but sources close to the top officials have indicated that there will be a varied assortment of shows, with University students being in complete charge of operations.

Balloting Over In Freshman Elections

Campaigning for 1955 Freshman Class offices got underway last Friday and terminated yesterday at noon, with voting being carried on Monday through Wednesday.

Those campaigning for the offices of president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, and two alternate representatives, to the Student Council were: Roberta "Sugar" Aronson, Phil Seidenberg, Bob O'Neil, Narlene Gleicher, Mines Tsahadjopoulos, Joe Siciliano, Ruth Nodland, and June Bartram.

The president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer will also serve on the Student Council. These officers will have voting privileges in the Council and as such will participate in the policy-making of all student matters and activities.

All freshmen voted for three of the eight respective candidates. The highest number of votes will determine who will become president, followed by the next highest who will serve as the new vice-president and secretary-treasurer.

Each year during this season every newspaper and radio station in the country start delivering sermons to their readers and listeners on the evils of drinking and driving, as well they should, because drinking and driving definitely do not mix.

Why not wise up. You are supposed to be the future leaders of America, so why not conduct yourselves as such during the holidays? We hate to see an empty seat in a classroom, or a vacant chair in Alumni Hall.

Christmas In 1942

by Minos Tsohadjopoulos

It was one of those dark, cold December nights when everything sounded unfriendly. Snow was covering everything and a cold wind was blowing. It was the night before Christmas, but nothing reminded one of that blessed day. You could see no lights on the streets, no decorated windows, no Christmas trees, pleasant atmosphere nor happy wishes. The German boot was upon the chest of the people and the black Swastika was covering Acropolis.

In a distant section of Athens, in a poorly lit and heated room, a woman was knitting. Near her, a pale, skinny boy was sleeping. The woman, from time to time, was looking towards the child and her eyes were shining. He was the only thing left to her. The cruel war had taken her husband away from her, hunger killed her mother and took away all her small savings and jewels. Tomorrow was Christmas and she was knitting a sweater for her boy so that he at least would not feel cold. She planned to go the next day to try to find something to cook, something that would make this day seem different from the others. She was ready to crawl on her knees so that her child would have something to eat tomorrow. He was so skinny. He had not had anything solid for three whole days.

Next day she woke up, dressed the boy with the new sweater and after sending him to the church started seeking food. After four hours of tiresome journey she succeeded in finding some vegetables, a bone for soup from the garbage of a German restaurant and a piece of bread. She started back with a secret heat in her heart, knowing at last her boy was going to eat something. When she reached her home she saw people gathered in front of the nearby German Cafeteria and heard a child crying and two Nazis laughing. Her heart was pounding and she ran directly to the crowd. She saw a stout German kicking a young boy, her boy. As she watched, he tried to grab a bone that was thrown to a dog by the German but again the Nazi kicked him. With a loud cry she fell on the skinny body and started crying. The Nazis were laughing. Suddenly a fiercesome cry was heard from the woman and a sobbing voice, "He is dead... my son... take him home..." and jumping up she threw herself on the officer and put her fingers in his eyes. He shouted and then a gun was fired. The poor woman fell on the body of her boy, dead. The other officers kicked her and helped their friend into the cafeteria. A sobbing neighbor approached the dead bodies and closed her eyes while someone else was picking up the loaf of bread and the bone.

ED. NOTE — The story you have just read is true. It was witnessed by the author in his native Greece 12 years ago next Friday. Remember it when you go to your church, or temple this week and thank the Lord that you have the safety of these United States of America.

Knights Face Road Trip In New York Tomorrow

by Dick Johnson

In their final two games before the Christmas layoff, the Purple Knight cagers will make a two-night stand in New York City, facing the New York Athletic Club tomorrow night and Brooklyn Poly Saturday.

NYAC will be returning to the Knight's schedule for the first time since 1950 when the Purple and White scored a 78-60 upset, while Poly will be making its fifth showing against Bridgeport and will be searching for their first victory in the series.

Mermen Lose; Brooklyn Poly Here Saturday

The University swimming team will be looking for its first victory of the season when they tangle with Brooklyn Poly at the Bridgeport YMCA this Saturday. The Knights lost their opening meet of the season to Manhattan College last week, the Jaspers downing the aquators 61-23.

Co-captains Dick Ellis and Bill Piascik captured 15 of Bridgeport's 23 points in the Manhattan clash, with Piascik capturing the 200 yard backstroke and placing second in the 150 yard medley, while Ellis took seconds in the 50 and 100 yard dashes and third in the 440 freestyle.

Charlie Anderson won the 200 yard breaststroke race, Eddie Hall took a third in the diving contest and Howie Bader rounded out the Bridgeport scoring with third spot in both the 200 and 220 backstroke.

Three Named To All-State Football Team

Hal Trischman, Dick Cipriani and Dave Deep, standout performers for the University's football team, were named to the 1954 All-Connecticut football team last week by the Connecticut Sports Writers Alliance.

Trischman, a six-foot two-inch tackle, nicknamed the "Block of Granite" and a four-year veteran of the pigskin wars, was named to the second team All-State squad, and along with his National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics All-American selection, closed out his collegiate career in a blaze of glory.

Cipriani, a six-foot junior, who finished third in the country in pass receiving with 28 passes caught, was an Honorable Mention pick and, with Trischman, became the first players in UB history ever to win All-American honors, also being named to the NAIA squad.

Deep, a six-foot junior center, was also an Honorable Mention selection. A stellar linebacker as well as offensive center, he missed half the season, with an injured ankle but in the games he did play, he, in the minds of the writers, justified his selection to the All-State team.

Time Running Out To Join Contest

Today is the day! Unless your entry for the SCRIBE basketball contest is in the ballot box at noon, you will have no chance to win one of the great array of prizes being offered by the Merchants of the Bridgeport area, to the students of this school.

The Seawall, long the home of UB after-ball game parties, is offering two, five dollar meal tickets to the lucky winners, while Alumni Hall, through the graces of Mrs. Grace Martin is also offering five dollars worth of free food.

Koenig Art Shop has donated two dollars worth of art supplies, the Warner-Merritt theatres will give out 10 free passes and Park Pharmacy has given a prize to be announced at a future date. Other Merchants around town are also chiming in with free gifts that make the effort of filling out the mimeographed ballot seem as easy as breathing.

Last year's winner, Nick D'Aluisio received a five dollar gift certificate from one of the Bridgeport stores, a free grease job for his auto and several other prizes and this year's winner is promised all that and more.

There will be ten prizes with the order to be announced in the final edition of the SCRIBE in February. The winners will be named in the first edition following the close of season on Feb. 28.

The final column of the year is always hard to write because you just don't have the ambition to sit down and think out a decent column. The football season is long over with the soccer season, the basketball and swimming squads are not far enough underway to have any bright observations made about them and fencing hasn't even started.

About the only thing you can think to say is Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, but everyone else is saying that and you don't want to be a copycat.

You think about the last trip you made with the basketball team. How the bus got the nickname of "Longo's Casino" because of the four pinochle and two gin rummy games going on.

That sets you to thinking of the other trips you have made, the many faces that should be on the bus but are missing now. The trips are never quite as good as last years, and next years won't live up to this years.

The parties after the game, the curfew, the long ride home after a loss. The sleep you miss calling up the other rooms. They all flash back and cause a smile as you doze on the way home and as you sit behind your typewriter trying to think up something to write.

One trip keeps flashing back, the one when the "Big Three," Lou Saccone, Gus Seaman and Dick LaBash made their final overnight journey with the Purple Knights and the tears in Herb Glines' eyes when he proposed a toast to the squad. But no one wants to hear about that either.

Then the trips with Alvin Clinkscales, who was always good for a laugh, in any town at any time. Coming home after the Hofstra game this year when no one said a word or wanted to. Hal was in the hospital and three other boys belonged there with him.

Oh, but no one wants to hear about the stuff so we may as well join the bandwagon and wish each and every one of you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Lose Two

Losing their first two intercollegiate tests, 101-63 to Manhattan and 77-65 to Rider College, the hoopsters ran into a streak of unbelievable shooting by their opponents, the Jaspers hitting for 58.6 percent and Rider shooting 54.5 percent of their shots.

Jimmy Davins, who led the Knights with 18 points against Manhattan, again captured scoring laurels in the Jersey clash, coming up with 25 tallies, 18 of them in the second half, with Jack Liggins pouring 18 markers through the hoop. Stan Silverberg moved into second place in the rebounding department by grabbing 21 caroms and now trails Davins by only two with a total of 46.

Little is known about the "AC" except that they defeated Providence College by eight points early last week and lost by one point to CCNY in a pre-season scrimmage. This is their first season of basketball since 1950 and coach Herb Glines figures to have his hands full as the "AC" tries to revenge the 1950 defeat.

Poly, 41 point losers to Hunter College, has also taken a 20 point drubbing from Queens College, but will pose an interesting threat on their bandbox court at the Brooklyn YMCA.

Hoffman Missing

With last year's high scorers, Harmon Hoffman and Dick Duckman, missing from the roster the Brooklyn offense is built around Bob Menzig, a rangy forward, who is averaging close to 15 points per game this season. Coach Art Meinhold has switched to a zone defense to combat his team's lack of height.

The last time the Knights came up against a zone was in the 1952 clash with Pratt, in which the Purple ran the New Yorkers off the court with a fast breaking attack, of the same type that Glines is featuring this season.

NON-COMPOS MENDES

by Bob Mendes

And we're off. . . . We hope we're not becoming snobs or chronic complainers or anything like that, but it's been taking an awful lot to satisfy us lately. . . . especially in the field of popular music.

A few months ago we devoted a sentence or two on how unhappy we were about two currently 'overpopular' songs, "Ooop-Shoop" and its backwards cousin, "Sh-Boons". . . . Now we are beset upon by a band of quasi-music lovers with their Mambos. . .

Why must these people desecrate such beloved Christmas time songs like "Jingle Bells" and come up with the "Jingle Bells Mambo"? Another song the favorite of little children around this time of year is "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer." We've been hit by the "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer Mambo."

You people who eat this stuff up. . . . Give us a break. How come you can sit and listen to this stuff for hours on end? . . . (Don't your heads get tired from the weird gyrations necessary to be performed if one wishes to be a member of this club.)

We've thought of many weird titles that could be coined, but about the best that we can think of at the moment of this writing is the "Walter Winchell Rhumba Mambo." Is it possible that this will ever come into being? Give us a break. We are led to wonder from where, and at what time the next boat to "The Belgian Congo" leaves. Perhaps in time for Christmas? Oh, well, they must have their own dances there too, but if they don't perhaps we could set up permanent residence and operate our column from there. (Will the Associated Press carry us editor?)

Please dear reader. . . . Don't get us wrong. We are not against dancing. Dancing is one of the best institutions ever created to alleviate boring parties. This, however, we do not consider dancing. As far as we are concerned the Mambo is a form of calisthenics. It should be administered to football players at the start of a season, or to acrobats before they apply for a job with a circus, but fever pitch, topping all previous Christmas Ball affairs.

Among the gay decorations and festive air that always precedes the annual affair, one sad note was felt when it was realized that the University's basketball team would not be on hand for the dance, with a game scheduled against the New York Athletic Club, in New York City, having been previously arranged.

as far as social functions are concerned. . . . This past time doesn't have it.

We, in the next day or so will have to begin dodging the epithets (and caracas) of the mamboers. Anyway, the Christmas vacation is coming up and we'll be safely home for a few weeks.

We hope that we're not creating any bad feelings within anybody, but. . . Sound Off!

Merry Christmas everybody and have a wonderful New Year's Eve, but don't Mambo TOO much.

Approval Given To Radio Station

Students will also be in charge of programming, broadcasting, and technical work.

Applications Expected

Several applications have already been rectified by Burbank and more are expected when final details are ironed out. All applications will be screened by a special panel and voice recordings will be made to determine poise and adaptiveness for the airwaves.

The entire setup will be built during the Christmas recess and erected at a site to be named by the administration. Rumor has it that the basement of Alumni Hall is under consideration as a site for the studios.

RCA Victor and Columbia Record Companies have sent several albums of popular recordings to the station, and other record companies are expected to follow suit.

ly, not only in athletics, but in all other fields as well."

When asked if he felt his columns had anything to do with the formation of the award, he added, "No, Mr. Carpenter had started the idea long before I started my column."

The steering committee will consist of Martin Ryan, Mrs. Harold Beardsworth, Leo Muldoon, Chris Parry, Abraham Gordon, Everett Matson, Art Wargo, John Brewster, and Robert Donaldson, President of the Alumni Association of the University.

School officials on the steering committee include, Herbert E. Glines, Director of Athletics, Albert A. Dickason, Chairman of the Drama Department, W. Earle Sauerwein, Chairman of the Music Department, Alphonse Sherman, Director of Student Activities and William Kennedy, Director of Alumni Relations.

The group met Tuesday night at Alumni Hall to discuss the formation of sub-committees and personal solicitation. Also discussed was the allocation of funds collected in the drive.

Athletes Feted At Yearly Dinner

McKeon, in summing up the soccer squad's fine 9-1 record, praised the entire team for their fine job, and lauded the football team, "It's easy to go out there and win, week in and week out, but trying to take a losing season like a sport, the way you boys did, is not so easy."
